HE WANTED TO KNOW.

A bright youngster accompanied his mother to our children's department yesterday. During a conversation about various points of excellence in different suits, the salesman happened to mention the fact that a certain suit had pants with double seat and knees. The youngster turned up missing in a few moments, and when he was found he was in a dressing room with the pants, which he had turned inside out, in his hand, closely examining the double seat. When asked what he was looking at so closely, he said: "Oh, nothin', just lookin' to see where that seat was double." He had been used to having a lickin' good time on different occasions. Of course the double seats are put in to add to the wear, not to the nonspankability of the suits. Not all our suits are built that way, but a good many of them are. Have you been in our boys' and children's room lately? It's a great department now, twice as many things to pick from as before. Natty little Junior and Reefer Suits are plentiful-handsome Chinchilla Reefers with gold buttons -swell Overcoats and warm Ulsters--and those wonderful Knee Pant Suits at $1.75 that are worth two fifty are piled up high on tables that would groan if they had any groan machinery in 'em. We're making it pay people profits to patronize our children's room these Indian Summer days.
